

Table of Contents

I. It's Good Business to Invest in Child Care

- A. The Changing Workforce
- B. Increasing Work-Family Conflicts
- C. New Challenges for Employers
- D. Bottom-Line Benefits
- E. Future Workforce Development
- F. Community Economic Development

Pullouts: (1) Tax Benefits for Employers

II. Getting Started

- A. Begin with Careful Planning
- B. Identify Champions
- C. Form a Task Force
- D. Business Self-Assessment
- E. Probe Employees' Needs and Preferences
- F. Community Resource Assessment
- G. Assessing Costs and Benefits of Child Care Investments

Pullouts: (1) Cost-Benefit Analysis: A Step-by-Step Example
(2) Business Self-Assessment Checklist
(3) Community Resources Assessment
(4) Employee Needs Assessment

III. Public-Private Partnerships

- A. Advantages of Partnering with the Community
- B. What are Public-Private Partnerships?
- C. What Do Partnerships Do?
- D. Strategies for Successful Public-Private Partnerships

Pullouts: (1) What is a Public-Private Partnership?
(2) Business Roundtables, Coalitions, and Commissions

IV. Child Care Options for Employers

- A. Providing Information
- B. Flex-Time and Leave Policies
- C. Providing Financial Assistance to Employees
- D. Creating and Supporting Child Care Services
- E. Characteristics of Successful Employer-Supported Child Care Programs

Pullouts: (1) Comparison of Child Care Options for Employers
 (2) Dependent Care Spending Assistance Account
 (3) Child Care Options for Small Business
 (4) Family Child Care Networks

V. Overcoming Challenges

- A. Dealing with Expectations
- B. Equity
- C. Applicability
- D. Liability
- E. Costs

VI. Resources

- A. Organizations
- B. Data Sources
- C. Publications